SETON HALL COLLEGE,

SOUTH ORANGE, NEW JERSEY,

1886.

ARLINGTON, N. J.:
PRESS OF THE CATHOLIC PROTECTORY,
1886.
This Institution was founded in 1856, at Madison, N. J., by the Most Rev. J. Roosevelt Bayley, D. D., the first Bishop of Newark. During the Summer vacation of 1860, it was removed to its present location at South Orange. The Legislature of the State, during the session of 1861, passed an Act of Incorporation, granting it all the rights and privileges enjoyed by other colleges in the State.

It is situated near the village of South Orange, on the line of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad, fourteen miles distant from New York.

The College buildings are of great architectural beauty, large and commodious, thoroughly ventilated, well heated by steam and lighted by gas. They are on high ground, overlooking a beautiful country. The Orange Mountains have long been recommended by physicians as a most favorable residence for their patients, and the advantages of the surrounding country have been fully appreciated; hence the villas and mansions of every eligible site for miles around.

In addition to the buildings represented in the engravings, there has recently been erected a handsome stone structure called Alumni Hall, the gift of Alumni and of devoted friends of Seton Hall College and Seminary, and certainly a worthy monument of their generosity. The lower story consists of two billiard parlors, one for the younger, the other for the older Collegians; and a recreation room, fifty-five feet long, for the Seminarians.
The second story furnishes a spacious hall provided with a stage for literary, musical or dramatic entertainments. This hall is designed to serve, first, for the annual meeting of the Setonian Alumni Association, and secondly, for the students' indoor gymnasium, and for Cadets' drills.

A very useful feature of the new building consists in the piazzas affording a covered walk of two hundred feet for outdoor exercise in inclement weather. They have been of great service on rainy days and in the winter months when outdoor sports were impracticable.

With the Chapel on the west, and the College on the east, Alumni Hall faces the Seminary; and united to these buildings, it forms a spacious quadrangle, rendered attractive, not only by the enclosing groups of structures, but by the graded lawn, gracefully diversified by flagged walks to the Seminary, the College, the Chapel and the Infirmary.

The grounds set apart for recreation, about ten acres in extent, contain a gymnasium, ball-alleys and base-ball fields. A safe skating pond affords means of exercise in Winter, and in Summer the College woods prove a pleasant retreat.

The College is under the immediate supervision of the Bishop of Newark. It is conducted by Secular Priests, who are assisted by experienced Lay Professors.

Sisters of Charity have charge of the household affairs.

Great attention is paid at all times to a generous furnishing of the table, and to the neatness and cleanliness of every part of the establishment. In sickness, should it occur, the students receive careful nursing.

The aim of Seton Hall is to impart a good education, in the highest sense of the word—to train the moral, intellectual and physical being. The health, manners and morals of the students, all of whom are required to live in the College, are objects of constant care. The system of government combines strict discipline with kind and gentle treatment. All the students are thoroughly instructed in the Doctrines of the Catholic Church, and trained in its practices.

The better to carry out the design of the Institution, and to devote constant and special attention to each individual student, but a limited number is received.

The Academic year, which consists of two terms of five months each, begins on the first Wednesday of September and ends on the third Wednesday of June. At Christmas there is a vacation of twelve days; and in May students are permitted to be absent for a day or two, to procure Summer clothing. At no other time are they allowed to leave the College, except for reasons of great importance.

The visiting day is Thursday.

Weekly reports of all the classes are read before the professors and students. Monthly reports are sent to the parents or guardians.

General examinations are held at the end of each term. These may be either written, or oral, or both, as the President may direct. In the most important branches of study both methods are employed.

Although the full Classical course is recommended to all, students may pursue elective studies in the Scientific or Commercial departments, or they may select special branches from the Classical, Scientific or Commercial classes.

In all these courses, practical methods of teaching are employed, and with such favorable results that students of the Institution have been noticeably found in the foremost ranks of those who have successfully passed examinations for admission into schools of Theology, Law or Medicine.
A very desirable characteristic of Seton Hall is its freedom from malaria. Dr. William O'Gorman, who is at the head of the medical profession in Newark, N. J., and who has been the College Physician for twenty-three years, has remarked that, although he had known of cases of intermittent fever that had been brought here from other places, and that then, in consequence, had been developed here, he never met in all his years of practice one case that originated at Seton Hall.

In view of the general condition of business, the charges for tuition, board, &c., have been reduced from $430 to $350 per annum, in the Senior, Junior, Sophomore and Freshman Classes, and to $300 per annum in the Preparatory Department.

Candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Arts are required to follow the studies of the classical course, and to pass a satisfactory examination in them.

Graduates of the College may, on application, receive the degree of Master of Arts two years after they have finished the course of studies.

FUNDAMENTAL RULES OF DISCIPLINE.

The rules of the College require of all students a manly bearing, and kind, courteous deportment toward one another at all times; application to study during the hours of study, and the thorough preparation and recitation of the lessons assigned.

No student leaves the College grounds without permission.

Leaving the College grounds after nightfall renders the student liable to expulsion.

The use of tobacco is forbidden.

No books, other than text books and works of reference recommended by the Professors, may be held by the students, unless by permission of the President.

Students are not allowed to receive newspapers, except for their Reading-room, which is under the direction of the President.

Correspondence is subject to supervision.

Students who are insubordinate, or of low or vicious habits, will not be retained in the College.

Applicants for admission from other Colleges must bring satisfactory testimonials of character.

Parents have the right to withdraw their sons at any time; they have not the right to interfere with the established discipline of the College.

A part of a month will be charged as a whole month.

Bills are presented at the beginning of each term, and are payable in advance,
Each student, on entering, should be supplied with sufficient clothing for the term. He should also have two silver spoons, two forks and a napkin ring, all marked with his name; and likewise a sufficient number of towels, napkins, and a toilet-box.

Articles of clothing, etc., will not be furnished to students without special instructions from parents and guardians, and in such case, a sum sufficient to defray probable expenses should be deposited with the Treasurer in advance.

With regard to pocket-money, it is desirable that parents should allow their sons but a moderate sum, and that this should be placed in the hands of the Treasurer, to be given as prudence may suggest.

Parents or guardians residing out of the United States, or at a great distance, must appoint a representative at some convenient place, who will be responsible for the regular payment of all expenses, and bound to receive the student should it become necessary to dismiss him.

Should a student leave the College before the expiration of a term, no deduction will be made for the remainder of that term, except in case of dismissal or prolonged illness. One hundred dollars extra will be charged for students who remain in the College during the Summer vacation.
